SPEAKERS

William Beck, MD
William Beck, MD, is a trauma and acute care surgeon at Parkview Health. He attended Tulane University School of Medicine in New Orleans, Louisiana, where he received his medical degree. He completed his residency at Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville Tennessee and earned a Surgical Critical Care Fellowship in acute care surgery and trauma at University of Texas, Houston Health Science Center in Houston, Texas. Dr. Beck is board certified by the American Board of Surgery in surgical critical care and is an Associate Fellow of the American College of Surgeons. He is also a member of the Society for Critical Care Medicine, The Eastern Association for the Surgery of Trauma and H. William Scott Society.

Jason J. Heisler, DO
Dr. Heisler joined Ortho NorthEast (“ONE”) in 2008 with a medical specialty that is focused on providing rapid evaluation and highly specialized treatment for patients with life- or limb-threatening injuries, nonunions and malunions.
Growing up in Marshall, Michigan made Michigan State University an easy choice for Dr. Heisler. He was a cheerleader and involved in many campus activities, while he studied Exercise Science and Physiology. He met his wife Mindi, a fellow cheerleader, while they were students at Michigan State University. They have four boys, enjoy spending time with each other and frequently travel to Michigan to be with their extended family.

Raymond Cava, MD, FACS
Raymond Cava, MD, FACS, is a trauma surgeon currently practicing at Parkview Regional Medical Center in Fort Wayne, Indiana. He serves as the medical director for Parkview Trauma Services. He earned his medical degree from Rush Medical College and completed his general surgical residency at the University of Illinois Hospitals, both in Chicago, Illinois. In 2000, Dr. Cava completed a fellowship in trauma and surgical critical care at Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta, Georgia. He has presented nationally at numerous trauma meetings and has published several trauma-related research papers in peer-reviewed journals.

Lisa Hollister, DNP, MSN, RN
Lisa Hollister is the director of trauma for Parkview Health where she has 30-years of service in trauma. She received her nursing degree from Purdue Fort Wayne in 1992, and her doctorate in nursing practice, healthcare systems engineering, from Purdue University, West Lafayette, in 2020. She serves on the Board of Directors for the Trauma Center Association of America, and Fort Wayne Trails. She is a member of the Indiana State Trauma Care Committee, the Indiana Trauma Network, District 3 Trauma Regional Advisory Council, District 3 Healthcare Coalition, and numerous committees related to trauma, mass casualty, injury prevention, trauma research, and trauma education. She was awarded both, the Virginia M. Wagner Lifetime Achievement award from the Indiana Chapter, American Academy of Pediatrics, and the Michael Mirro Award for Outstanding Research and Mentoring from the IU School of Medicine, Fort Wayne.

Bryan Cotton, MD, MPH, FACS
Dr. Bryan Alan Cotton is a Professor at McGovern Medical School at UTHealth and the Director of the Surgical Critical Care Fellowship Program as well. He is also Co-Director of the Shock-Trauma ICU at Memorial Hermann Hospital.
Dr. Cotton earned his Medical Degree at Ross University School of Medicine in Edison, NJ. He completed his residency in General Surgery at the University of Missouri Hospital & Clinics in Columbia, MO and his fellowship in Trauma & Surgical Critical Care at the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania & Children's Hospital of Philadelphia in Philadelphia, PA. Dr. Cotton later earned his Masters of Public Health at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN.

Lindsay Weaver, MD, FACEP
Dr. Weaver joined the Indiana Department of Health (IDOH) as chief medical officer in 2020. She is an assistant professor of clinical emergency medicine at the Indiana University School of Medicine and continues to practice emergency medicine at Methodist Hospital in Indianapolis. She is board certified in both emergency medicine and hospice and palliative care medicine.
She earned her undergraduate degree in biology at the University of Kentucky and graduated from the University of Louisville School of Medicine. She received residency training in emergency medicine and fellowship training in hospice and palliative medicine at Indiana University School of Medicine, and she completed a fellowship in ethics at the Charles Warren Fairbanks Center for Medical Ethics at Indiana University Health. Dr. Weaver chairs the Indiana Commission for Women. She and her husband have five daughters.
